Balboa Press, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Dear Human Person, Whether you are a little person of only a few years, or a big person of many years, your life energy is precious in this vast universe! Every atom is accounted for, you are known. Once there was a tiny little pebble who didn't know they mattered on such a vast rock as this earth, inside this even more vast Universe. One day a little bird picked up the pebble and dropped him into a small glass of water. The little pebble raised the water level just enough that the little bird could finally get a sip of water. The little bird looked at the pebble in gratitude. Now, this little bird would have the strength to fly back to her nest and care for her little chicks. No matter what you do in your life, it will affect all other life, life you are aware of and life you are unaware of. Within you is a myriad of energized particles that collaborate and celebrate in their way your very existence. You will likely never see them, or know them by name, but they make up you. We hope you will choose well, be gracious, choose love, to be happy, kind to your little body, and embrace the whole that you are connected to. As we all make this choice together and create the next moment. -The Planet, and me.
