It stinks, but it has always kept her safe. On the last day of school, Emilia, her so-called best friend, deals her a blow in the form of public humiliation and her spot in a prestigious art school is compromised. Meadow is knocked out of her sleepy existence and realizes she needs to make some big changes, starting with Emilia. When Isla moves in across the street, she inspires Meadow to take charge of her own life and her own heart. Her heart just won't shut up about the brooding Alejandro, or about Jack, who is tall and funny and totally gets her. Being caught between two boys isn't all bad, but after Meadow makes a shocking discovery, she realizes that she must stand on her own two feet and fix the mess she's made. Will her new friendship survive and can Meadow win back the boy she likes?.
